

Re: "Rules and Regulations Implementing the Telephone Consumer Protection Act of 1991

-CG Docket NO. 02-278" I work for a teleservices firm and am concerned that the proposed rule changes will limit my companies ability to continue operating and therefore could be at risk of losing my job, also the other employees as well. I am 55 years old and have work at my place of employment for 15 years, I would not want to have to start over because there are some firms out there who do not know how to follow rules or abide by the laws. Maybe the effort should be directed towards enforcement of the rules to those who are not following them rather than changing the rules which could make a drastic impact on the employees of those firms that play by the rules.
